INCENDIARY WORK IS NOW SUSPECTED

Second Blaze at Brookport Destroys Plant.

Leonard's Saw-Mill and Lumber
Yard Wiped Out by Fire Early
This Morning.

LOSS $5,000, HALF COVERED.

S. C. Leonard's saw-mill and a portion of the lumber stored in the yards, located in West Brookport, opposite Paducah, burned this morning between 4 and 5 o'clock and is a total loss. The property was partly insured but the loss will be heavy—perhaps $5,000.

It is thought the fire was of incendiary origin as the mill was discovered on fire Saturday night. The watchman, with assistance hastily summoned, succeeded in putting out the fire, which had gained little headway, but this morning the flames had eaten into the roof and gained too great a headway when discovered. Spectators could only assist in pulling lumber away from the path of the flames.

The fire attracted attention in Paducah and an alarm was sent in to the local fire companies. It appeared that the fire was on the north side of Paducah and the firemen went as far as Tenth and Finley streets.

The exact loss has not been determined. It is stated that several thousand dollars in insurance is carried but the property was not more than half insured. The loss is roughly estimated at $5,000.

The action of the magistrates and Judge Lightfoot has been a stimulant to the taste of residents in Paducah generally, and this with The Sun's offer of $75 in prizes to those who have the prettiest yards in the city, has caused a general move toward lawn improvements and the city is "coming out."

Tragedy at Mother Sunday Morning—
Little Companions Were Witnesses.

DRAWING STREAM FOR BODY.

Before the eyes of his own brothers, the ten-year-old son of James Elko of the Mother section, was drowned in Mayfield creek about 75 yards above the Mother bridge, Sunday morning, and will be buried this afternoon at Lowes.

He could not swim but, vowing he was not afraid of the water, he dashed off his clothes and plunged in. Evidently the water was deeper than the child imagined for he had no sooner left the shore than he realized he was beyond his depth. He called for help and little companions on the bank hurried to his rescue. The lad on the bank was fully dressed and took the time to strip before plunging into the water. When they reached the spot where they had just seen the head of young Elko, feebly crying for help, the drowning boy had gone down for the last time.

Although the companions swam around the spot as long as they could and dived repeatedly they saw no more of the unfortunate youth.

When he was notified that young Elko was drowned, a boy rushed to the village and summoned assistance. In a short time there was a crowd around the old swimming hole and immediately the work of searching for the body began. Divers went down all during the afternoon but were unsuccessful, and it was believed the current carried the body down stream.

HEAVY RAINFALL FOR THREE DAYS

Bents Record For Months of April and May.

Thrashing Industry Is Stopped and Street Work Delayed, but Crops Improve.

RIVER GAUGE SHOWS A RISE.

More rain has fallen in the last 72 hours than fell altogether in the months of April and May. The rainfall since Friday has been 3.18 inches. In June the rainfall was 3.52 inches.

Paducah's rainy season seems to have broken out and the clouds that have been threatening and promising by turns for a month opened in torrents Friday, continuing with slight intermissions until the present with no indications of letting up.

The rain is proving both a detriment and advantage to the farmers. Thrashing is the order of the day and this is seriously hampered by the downpour, which, in fact, has put an indefinite stop to the work. It may injure the grain. Other crops which the drouth has kept back are drinking up the water and looking bright and green, but some of the plants are beyond succor.

In Paducah all the street work is temporarily stopped. All downtown streets are torn open with long trenches, and paving mixture is spread on the surface in many places ready for the dusting touches. A few of the trenches are caving in and some of the work must be done over again.

The effect of the rain on the river has been immediate, the gauge showing a rise of 1.4 in the last 48 hours. This morning it registered a stage of 7.4. The rise, mainly has been caused by the Tennessee river. At Florence heavy rains make it possible that a 15 foot stage will result, which would cause a rise of several feet here. The Fowler boats in the Ohio river report good falls up that stream. It remains to be seen whether the rise is transient.

FIGHTING WEEVIL IN COTTON BOLLS

Active Agents Furnished by Nature Considered.

Means Discovered for Preserving
Fish Alive Out of Water—
Keep Gills Wet.

AMERICAN FLAG UPSIDE DOWN.

Washington, July 16.—In spite of the discouraging reports to the agricultural department by its experts last winter on the advance of the boll weevil, the department still continues to fight vigorously against this greatest menace of southern crops. Having found artificial means of attacking the pest of little good, scrutiny has now been given to the active agents furnished by nature. As birds are the greatest destroyers of insects, Mr. Howell, of the agricultural department, has been busily engaged in field work, examining the stomachs of various birds which feed on insects. From his researches he has determined that the oriole is the greatest enemy, with the night hawk a close second, and for this the agricultural department lays great stress on the importance to the south of protecting these two birds, thousands of which are annually wantonly destroyed. Mr. Howell rightly holds that in case of an insect so destructive as the boll weevil and so incapable of check, every natural means of stopping its increase should be used. Though the extent of the services rendered by the birds may seem insignificant, in reality their cumulative effort is, he says, very important.

Our Waterways.

If you have a river in the improvement of which you are interested on account of the cheaper transportation and saving in freight which this would bring about, now is the time to get busy and make yourself heard, according to Representative Randall, chairman of the executive committee of the national rivers and harbors congress and member of the house committee which deals with such matters. That the subject of increased appropriation for waterway improvements will be one of the most important at the next session of congress is apparent, for the country is beginning to realize that no matter how low and equitable railroad rates may become, water transportation will always be cheaper, and that it is consequently high time to take steps for the improvement of our great inland system of rivers and lakes, whose commerce now equals the entire international commerce of the world. In spite of this proof it receives less than three per cent of the country's income. As a proof of the saving which improved water transportation would work, the case is cited of a shipment of 58,000 tons of coal made from Pittsburgh to New Orleans by water at a cost of $18,000, as compared to $150,000, the cost by rail. No shipper or consumer in the country is so far removed from its waterways as not to be able to benefit from such a saving as this, and the feeling is steadily growing that if we are to compete successfully in the markets of the world in the future, we must equip ourselves for the cheap water transportation which is enjoyed abroad.

Fish Out of Water.

Through the state department comes the startling information contained in a consular report from Germany that experiments carried on in that country have at last produced a method by which fish of all kinds can live for days outside of their natural element, water, and still live for an indefinite period. Literally the waterless fish has come to pass, an achievement of great commercial value since under the present system of shipping live fish in tanks of water, every shipment is from 93 to 96 per cent water in weight. The new method is due to a recognition of the fact that a fish breathes much the same as a human being, its gills corresponding to our lungs, and that for the gills to fulfill their function properly it is not necessary for the fish to be in water, but only that its gills be wet. In other words, while we breathe dry oxygen the fish needs wet oxygen. With this in mind the experimenters naturally concluded that the only thing necessary for the prolonged out-of-water existence of a fish was the stopping of evaporation from the gills. This end they accomplished by placing the fish in hermetically sealed boxes filled with air saturated with water, into which saturated oxygen was pumped. The experiment was a complete success, and the fish, when removed after five days, were as frisky as ever. This discovery, as soon as it is commercially perfected, will revolutionize the method of shipping fish, and will supply fresh sea-food to many an inland town which now is unable to get it.

Got Back at Jokers.

For a short but exciting period one day this week, the court of claims, located in the old Corcoran art gallery on Pennsylvania avenue, was in a state of anarchy, longing to get hold of a few of those persons who fill their time minding other people's business. The incident was due to the fact that when the flag on the building was raised in the morning it was hoisted union down, the signal of distress. Before it had been up fifteen minutes eleven people had telephoned. "Overcome with the heat, I suppose?" suggested the first inane inquirer. When two other persons had phoned equally irritating remarks, the court took a brief recess, drew up a reply, and unloaded it on the rest who butted in: "We are aware that the flag is upside down," it ran. "No, we are not in distress. We have not succeeded. We have not been designated by James K. Jones as official claimers for the Democratic party. We don't claim to know when it will be cooler. It was a common garden mistake. We claim that the people with no other business than that of enlisting us to make cheap observation indicative of a sense of humor that would disgrace a German funny paper, and—." But just about here the jokers generally rang off.

Senate Was Bigger.

In spite of the popular impression that the house is a busier body than the senate so far as the passing of bills is concerned, the records for the session just completed show the reverse to be the case. Aside from its long and necessary deliberations on various subjects, which come to it for final consideration and shaping up, the senate found time to pass 122 more bills than the house. During the session the house passed 3152 house bills and 1207 senate bills, making a total of 4359. The senate in the same time passed 1606 senate and 2875 house bills, making a total of 4481. Of the 1606 bills which the senate passed and sent to the house the latter body passed 1287, permitting 319 to go over to the next session. Of the 3152 bills which the house sent to the senate, the latter body passed 2875, postponing 277 to the next session.

Honduras has joined Salvador in a war against Guatemala and it is probable that Nicaragua will get into the fight.

GREAT WATERWAYS OF THIS COUNTRY

Will Receive More Attention
In Future

Austria Has Spent As Much On Her Streams As the United States Has.

SAVES MILLIONS OF DOLLARS.

Washington, July 16.—Of particular interest to the south, both because of its local application and the fact that it is from the pen of a southerner, is the article in the current number of the Inter-nation by Congressman Humphreys, of Mississippi, setting forth in a large way the necessity, both economic and financial, of a national scheme of improvements for our waterways as means of transportation—an object which is being earnestly sought by the organization known as the national rivers and harbors congress.

That such development of our waterways has been sadly neglected in the past, to the loss of the shipper, and that it is a subject whose magnitude makes it worthy of all interest, is the inevitable conclusion to be gained from Mr. Humphreys' article.

Even the third rate country of Austria has in the last sixty years spent as much in the improvement of her 800 miles of rivers as has our government spent on the Mississippi with its 15,000 miles of tributary streams. While in 1904, the total international commerce of the world amounted to twenty-two billions of dollars, the inland commerce of the United States equaled that stupendous sum. These facts seem to prove the foregoing assertion. That the shipper has been the loser, and to the tune of hundreds of millions, is evident from our neglect of our natural means of transportation. Congressman Humphreys cites the instance of recent freight of 58,000 tons of coal from Pittsburgh to New Orleans at a cost of $18,000, as compared to $150,000, a sum ten times as great, which would have been the cost by rail—surely strong evidence that it is time for the shipper to act, and assist the national rivers and harbors congress in its campaign for such increased appropriations which lie at his very door.

The deepening of the New Orleans harbor has resulted in the saving of millions to the southern shipper, says Mr. Humphreys.

"The deep water over the 'Jetties,' says he "which permits the great freighters to come up the river and go out with twenty-four thousand bales of cotton instead of six or eight thousand bales, as formerly, has reduced the ocean freight by one dollar and a half a bale. We export about seven or eight million bales a year, thus saving some ten or twelve million dollars annually to the cotton farmers of the south. I think we can all agree that the great harbors along our seacoast deserve and should receive our very generous aid. Every farmer in the land is interested in them, as we have seen, because what we export is very largely the product of the farm."

Just as Mr. Humphreys' argument applies to harbor improvement, so does it apply to the improvement of rivers and no community is so far inland that it would not participate in the gains of the national scheme of improvements which he advocates in behalf of the national rivers and harbors congress.

Certainly, in this, the age of transportation as it has been called, two facts stand out clearly in the light of Congressman Humphreys' article: First, that natural regulation of the price of transportation by means of superior improvement will prove superior to artificial regulation, and second, that the shippers of the United States cannot longer afford to neglect the opportunities for cheap transportation to be gained from the plan of national waterways improvements for which the rivers and harbors congress is laboring.

Overheard at Commencement.

It was commencement day at M. seminary. The mother of the prototypical girl graduate was there—overflowing with pride at her daughter's success. "I'll tell you those girls have to walk chalk," said the complacent mother. "They can't go anywhere without a Shampooer." A little later, turning to her companion, the good lady said: "Can you tell me what state Table-d'hotel is in? My oldest daughter is in the south somewhere, for her health. She wrote me that she was better, and was going to Table-d'hotel for the first time. Now I've looked all over the map of the United States and I can't find that name anywhere.—July Lippincott's.

WHAT BEAUTY MEANS Study on America's Interest in Beautiful Homes.

A writer in the Atlanta, Ga., News thus comments on the growing interest in a "beautiful America" as illustrated in the increasing activities of The American Civic association.

"One woman who has traveled a great deal says that people in England care much more for the appearance of their lawns and their summer houses than Americans do, and life is made more beautiful by the outdoor spirit, serving tea on the lawn, instead of in the house. The custom is one that eminently appeals to the mind of the southerner—a large green lawn, with the sweet breath from the shrubbery, the dainty odor of the carnation, the wild flowers, and women in thin summer dresses, with roses in their dark hair.

"Whenever the homes of a people have come to mean more to them than mere lodgments from cold or rain, wind or sun, there has sprung up, very gradually perhaps, but none the less surely, a desire to improve them.

"These first developments were less a search after beauty than comfort; and it was not until a certain prosperity had been established and a belief in the strength of the community to withstand devastating attacks from enemies abroad, that a love for decoration became apparent. As in all the arts, different ideals are often the result of environment and climatic influence, so in the development of the home these artistic desires took many forms. So many forms, indeed, that it is only at a distance, of all these centuries one is able to see that the same influence was at work—the desire to make the home more in harmony with the generous colors of nature."

Timothy D. ("Big Tim") Sullivan, who represents the Eighth New York Congressional district, is about to resign. His resignation is required under the law, as he will be a candidate for the state senate next fall and the constitution provides that no person shall be eligible to the legislature who at the time of his election is, or within 100 days previous thereto, has been a member of congress.

THE SKIN OF THE TEETH

When We Say We Escape By It We Are Misquoting Job.

When we sneeze with gusto that we have "escaped by the skin of our teeth" we are guilty—so the authorities declare—of using one of those twisted sayings which have entirely supplanted the original verities.

Precious few persons know that it was poor old Job who began all his talk about the skin of the teeth. In the book of Job, nineteenth chapter, twentieth verse, it is recorded that he exclaimed:

"I am compassed with the skin of my teeth."

One hears people saying nowadays:

"I got out with nothing but the clothes on my back!"

This sounds like positive opulence compared with Job's sole remaining belonging, the skin of his teeth, with which, not by which, he escaped.—New York Sun.

"Deary me, Joid, here's another poor feller runned over by on o' these 'ere automobiles!"

"That ain't nothin', mother. They do say as in Roushin thousands o' poor fiks are killed in the streets along o' this 'ere auto-car-cy!"—The Hystander.

DARKEST DAYS

Are Days of Suffering—They Are Becoming Brighter for Some Paducah People.

Many "dark days" from kidney ills, Backache, headache—Nervous, tired, Urinary troubles—makes you gloomy.

Doan's Kidney Pills bring relief; Bring cure to every kidney sufferer. They are endorsed by Paducah.

J. R. Womble, of 1005 South Fourth street, says: "An attack of typhoid fever twenty years ago left me with weakened kidneys and I have had some pretty severe attacks of backache, some of them so bad that I have had to crawl around the house on my hands and knees. There was no rest neither day nor night despite the use of a vast quantity of medicine and more than one prescription. With very little expectation that I would get relief I tried Doan's Kidney Pills. One day's treatment convinced me that they were going to the spot and when topped these are the trouble disappeared."

IN THE LOBBY

"Why don't you dye that red head of yours?" one of the most successful of the "ambassadors of commerce" was asked at the Palmer House the other night.

"Not while I'm in this business," he responded. "It's worth too much money to me."

"You don't believe it is an asset, do you?" he continued. "Well, it is, just the same, and it brings to the surface a phase of human nature that I trade on to a certain extent."

"Everybody knows me where I go, and everybody has some funny comment to make on my hair. They do it in a hesitating way, as if they couldn't help it and yet were afraid I would get mad. When I don't, and come back good naturedly, they are relieved at once, and I am established on a basis of familiarity it would take another man a month to cultivate. My physical peculiarity affords me the opportunity to show them that I am a good fellow. See?"

"Look at 'Phat' over there. Do you reckon he has to make himself known the second time he visits a store? Not on your life. They know him and fire some alleged witticism at him, and they are his, if he shows the right spirit."

"Dye my hair? Not until I own the 'house' and can afford to be exclusive."

The training of a judge, such a one as the late Judge D. L. Sanders was, cannot be brought about in a day, or a week nor in a year but takes many years of hard work on the bench to produce the results Judge Sanders exhibited. He had by years of experience become familiar with even the most trifling trait of human nature and could read guilt or innocence in defendants' eyes. His plans because of this fact, will be hard to fill, and it will require as equally long a time for his successor to "catch on."

A negro who is often before the court and who invariably would receive a heavy fine at the hands of the late Judge, was presented before Judge Puryear. He heard the evidence and assessed a fine of $10 and costs. The woman's companion, as frequent a defendant as the former, was granted a continuance. "My, my," she exclaimed as she was being led out of the court room after court adjourned. "Jes' $10 and the extras fo' Florenee. She'll feel insulted at dat."

Circuit Judge William Reed is a baseball enthusiast every day except Sunday and is evidently as good a Judge of ball playing and umpiring as he is of law. "I like that fellow 'Happy Jack' Wilkinson's umpiring," he declared to Attorney J. D. Mock yesterday. "He makes a game go just like I want court to go, and he saves time, I'll tell you." No better compliment of Wilkinson's work could be paid the little "umps." He is fair and square and rushed business. The fact that he runs a ball game like Judge Reed does court is proof enough that he understands the business. Wilkinson is by far the best "umps" Paducah fans have ever seen.

Daily Thought.

"Who despises minutes cannot respect eternity."

The latest development in the state Democratic situation is being interpreted two ways by the Kentucky Democratic press. The anti-Reckham forces see in it a split in the administration forces with Gen. Percy Haly fighting Judge Hager. The administration papers are taking things more calmly, apparently satisfied that Haly's antagonism is blurring the way for the espousal of a more popular candidate for governor by the administration. The first open breach came when the Courier-Journal declared that Percy Haly was defeated for secretary of the subcommittee in charge of the state primary. Haly comes right back with an interview, saying he never was a candidate for the position, and asserting that Graeme Vreeland, managing editor of the Courier-Journal, is taking this means of disparaging General Haly's influence, because the latter is opposed to Hubert Vreeland's candidacy for secretary of state. In the Courier-Journal story it is indicated that Judge Hager, candidate for governor, and Judge Hines, candidate for state auditor, were in the saddle, and that General Haly opposed them. To this Haly responds that he had advised both Hager and Hines that they have not the strength for the contest for state offices at the next election and that he favors Ollie James or one of a half-dozen other strong men. This bold declaration from one so close to the administration looks ominous for Senator McCrory. Should the administration take up Ollie James, for instance, it might leave Senator McCrory standing almost alone on his record in office, with only the friends of Senator Blackburn as his allies; and everybody knows how far sentiment goes in a political fight with all the possibilities for gain on the other side.

The Paducah police department has issued a "go to work" order and today the "vags" will have to take up the pick and shovel or bring in witnesses to establish their means of support. It is a commendable move, but it is a pity it was not made long ago, when a series of petty thefts pointed to activity among chronic loafers. The police are going after the vagrants, that class that never performs a service to society except in the work house. But the police are not going to do anything silly, even under the advice of the daily press. The "Johnny" and the "Mashor," of whom our contemporary speaks so indignantly, is not necessarily included in the order, and the "broadway squad" is not going down that thoroughfare with a dragnet. Of course, if anybody, well dressed or in tatters, insults a woman the Paducah police will arrest him. But just now, what we are after is the elimination of the vagrant criminal class, of whom, perhaps many left the city when the order of the police department was published exclusively in The Sun Saturday evening. This order should be made standing, and Chief Collins is just the man to enforce it, when once he makes up his mind.

COLORED INSTITUTE

Will Be Instructed By Superintendent Billington.

Prof. J. S. Billington, county school superintendent, will be the first county superintendent to instruct a colored county teachers' institute. He decided to instruct the colored teacher this morning, and the institute will begin Monday the 23rd and last throughout the week.

There are 11 colored teachers in McCracken county and the institute will be held at the Lincoln school building at Eighth and Ohio streets. Every teacher in the county is expected to attend.

"I tried to secure a colored tutor to instruct the colored institute," Supt. Billington stated this morning, "but was unsuccessful in securing the man I thought fitted for the place. As a matter of economy I will instruct myself."

What Osteopathy Is. The question is often asked "What is Osteopathy?" for some people have a very vague idea of this new science that is doing so much to aid mankind. Osteopathy, when well digested, is nothing but good sense and reason.

It is a method for treating disease by manipulation, to restore the normal condition of the nerve control and the blood supply to every organ of the body by removing the physical obstructions, or by stimulating, or checking, functional activity, as the conditions may require.

A diseased body is caused by some interference to a working part of the organism, and a correction of it brings restored health. Therefore, osteopathy finds the disturbance and, righting it, effects its cure.

The methods used are scientific manipulation, and no medicines, and they are very successful. Some of the diseases in which osteopathic treatment has been the most effective are headaches of all kinds, nervous disorders, malaria and bilious, tired down and fagged out conditions, indigestion in its many forms, kidney troubles, sciatica and rheumatism. It treats successfully, however, nearly all diseases. If you are ailing, no matter what your particular trouble may be, I should like to have you call, and let me tell you why Osteopathy will cure in your special case. I do not claim that Osteopathy is a cure-all, but am frank and will tell you what it will do in any individual case, at the same time referring you to people who know, who will gladly tell you what the treatment has done for them.

My office hours are from 9 to 12 in the forenoon and 2 to 5 in the afternoon, phone number 1405.

Washington, July 16.—The third Pan-American conference will meet at Rio Janeiro, Brazil, July 21. With the exception of Haiti and Venezuela all American republics will be represented by delegates. Many important subjects are scheduled for discussion, including arbitration, naturalization, commercial development, customs and consular laws, sanitation copyrights, the Pan-American railway and the reorganization of the International Bureau of American Republics. The American delegation is headed by William L. Buchanan of Buffalo, formerly American minister to the Argentine republic and afterwards to Panama.

Little Japanese Midden.

New York, July 16.—A dainty little maiden from the far East, Wakiko Takahashi, daughter of one of the wealthiest bankers of Japan, is at the summer home of Jacob H. Schiff, near Scarborough, N. J., where several instructors are teaching her the English language and the manners and customs of the American people, whom she greatly admires. The banker brought Wakiko to this country when he returned from his recent tour of Japan, and will be her guardian for three years. The bright-faced young subject of the mikado is but 15 years of age and is learning English with remarkable ease, being now able to form sentences with the simplest words and make her wants known generally in a tongue which was strange to her less than three months ago.

BIBLE AS A WHOLE
MUST BE STUDIED

The Rev. Hunsaker Deplores a Bad Habit.

Venerable Minister Tells How the Redemption of the World Will Be Hastened.

BAPTIST PASTOR ON VACATION.

That all the scriptures should be studied in their relation to each other was the gist of the argument in the sermon by the Rev. A. L. Hunsaker at the Broadway Methodist church yesterday morning. He declared a general policy of considering some of the scriptures the peculiar property of the Baptists, and others of the Presbyterians and still others of the Methodists. He claimed that the Bible presents a consistent whole and stated that he would not accept an interpretation that would not bear the test of reason. The whole world, he asserted, is included in the scheme of salvation and no false ideas nor planning of men could defeat the scheme of salvation. But it is his belief that until this doctrinal war comes to an end and the scriptures as a consistent whole are relied on, the consummation of the earth's redemption will be delayed.

Family Returns With Him.

Regular services were held at the First Baptist church yesterday, the Rev. Calvin Thompson filling his pulpit. At the morning service his topic was, "Is Life Worth Living?" and in the evening, "Why He Was Called Jesus." Both were excellent sermons and large congregations were present. The threatening weather had some effect on the evening service but still the church was comfortably filled. The Rev. Thompson left early this morning for Denver, Col., his home, before coming here several weeks ago. He goes there on a vacation and on his return will be accompanied by his family. During his absence regular services will be held at the church by visiting divines. Rev. Thompson will be absent until about September 1.

Third Street Church.

The Rev. P. H. Fields filled his pulpit at the Third street Methodist church yesterday both morning and evening and large congregations were present. After the regular service last evening, the young people held a meeting and preliminary steps were taken in reorganizing the Epworth League. They will further organize next Wednesday after the prayer service and it is hoped to begin to hold regular meetings next Sunday. Next Sunday children's day exercises will be held and from present indications, the day promises to be a great success. There will be various talks, recitations and songs.

AN APPEAL FOR JIM HOWARD'S FAMILY

Responding to an urgent appeal made by republicans and democrats alike, The Sun presents a plain statement of fact in regard to James B. Howard's stricken family.

James B. Howard is now confined in the penitentiary, where he will serve a life sentence, having been convicted of the murder of William Goebel, five years ago.

Mrs. James B. Howard and her three little children are the innocent victims of the predicament Mr. Howard finds himself placed in by process of law. For five years this heroic woman has labored unceasingly, and never without hope, to secure a vindication for her husband. Their little home has been swept into the legal naelstrom, and today they are dependent on charity for the clothes they wear, and even for the bread they eat.

This condition will not be permitted to remain as long as there are tender hearts in Old Kentucky. This loyal wife has, by a devotion typical of Southern womanhood, touched the finest instincts of the human race. Facing the darkest gloom, from day to day, she has presented to a devoted husband a smiling and unflinching optimism that has undoubtedly braced him for the heavy ordeal he has undergone.

These three children are winsome children—for both the father and mother are persons of education and refinement. They are denied a home, an opportunity to acquire knowledge, a right to a father's care and protection.

Is it not a worthy case? Think as you may of the guilt or innocence of Jim Howard, here are helpless beings cast adrift on a world none too sympathetic, unless aroused to the cry of urgent want.

The Sun will acknowledge receipt of all money sent to it for "The Mrs. James B. Howard Fund."

A dime, a dollar a hundred dollars, or any amount, given in such a cause, will be "bread cast upon the waters," and such, the Great Father assures us "will come back as a hundredfold."

Object of Lincoln Farm Association.

This is a patriotic association of the citizens of the United States, formed to develop the Lincoln birthplace farm at Hodgenville, Kentucky, into a permanent Lincoln National park—a park of patriotism. When finished the park will be the finest historical memorial in the country, and will stand forever as a source of pride to the state of Kentucky and the entire nation. In order that this park may be the work of the whole people, the funds to complete it are to be subscribed only in small sums, from 25 cents to $25.—every subscriber becoming an honorary member, and his or her name to be entered in the permanent catalogue to be kept in a place of honor at the park. An honorary certificate will be issued to every subscriber, and no further dues of any kind will ever be required or collected.

BROKE WINDOWS

MRS. SWEENEY OBJECTS TO BEING LOCKED UP.

"Ladies' Day" brings two interesting but well known characters to jail.

It was "Ladies' Day" with the police today.

Mrs. Sweeney, alias Wilkie with several other aliases secured a string of marriages extending over the course of the last 40 years, was arrested shortly before noon.

She was drunk as usual, and did not like the idea of being put down in the lockup. But City Jailor Tom Everts plays no favorites and down she went. Shortly after there was a crash followed by shrieks of ecstasy and the jailer rushed down to see what was up.

Mrs. Sweeney was amusing herself tearing up the city jail. She had started in on the windows and had smashed half of them out before she was placed in a department where no glass could be gotten at. Following close onto her wake came Hallie Nichols, who also has been before the court on numerous occasions. She, too, had an over-supply of liquor although she protested against the accusation. When the lockup was suggested she gave her usual preliminary exhibition of grief, but it did not go. She was placed in safety deposit until train time and it was "back to the tail end meat for Hallie." She resides in Mayfield.

The Want and Exchange Market of Paducah

When you want anything to eat you go, or send to market, where you hope to find anything your fancy dictates.

In a great measure, for many things, the want ad columns of a newspaper are a market place for a host of things for the business man, the housekeeper, the mechanic, in fact for ALL individuals.

There you find probably something you have looked for a long time, or dispose of something you have wished to be rid of for months.

The results from want ads are remarkable, indeed.

Probably you have never tried them, so do so now, if you want anything or have anything to dispose of that comes within the scope of wanted publicity.

In Paducah, as in every other city, the paper the closest to people is the want ad medium. Here it is. The Sun.

LIGHTING PLANT QUESTION.

The session of the board of councilmen tonight promises to be lengthy, as the question of reconstructing the municipal lighting plant will come up in the committee's report. It is believed. More than one session probably will be occupied in coming to a vote, as several members have expressed the intention of having the whole matter thoroughly explained to them before they will vote on it. The improvement entails an expenditure of $12,000 to $20,000. The committee report favors the direct current system as opposed to the alternating system. There seems to be no disagreement as to the advisability of installing new machinery.

The island creek bridge question also may be brought up. The improvement committee and the board of public works have decided on a foot and wagon bridge at Fourth street. It was at first proposed that the street railway also use the bridge, but a disagreement as to the proper division of the cost put, at least, a temporary end to the negotiations.

Members of the general council are anxious to improve the lighting plant and start the bridge and the sewer work this month, and may hold several special meetings.

IT WAS "EVERYBODY'S"

So Burglars Considerately Left Private Property Alone That Night.

Whether Col. M. E. Ham, the well known traveling salesman, is working in league with a gang of postoffice robbers, as his friends insinuate or whether the enterprising but unsophisticated burglars were misled by the rather ambiguous name of the goods Col. Ham is selling, the latter is pointing with no little pride to the operations of some "yeggs" at Hornbeak, Tenn., last Wednesday night, when they broke into the postoffice at that place and rifled Col. Ham's mail.

The post-office is located in Walker's store and after Col. Ham had "worked" the town he left for distribution through the mails a lot of circulars setting forth the merits of his particular brands of goods and enclosing coupons good for premiums, worth several dollars. A demonstration had been made in the store and that evening Col. Ham dropped several hundred letters in the post-office. They were not distributed that night and the next morning when the postmaster returned he found that every envelope had been opened and the coupons for "everybody's" coffee extracted. An open window was the only clue to the manner in which entrance was effected.

Gender.

The London Truth's puzzle department recently awarded a prize to the author of the following "specimens of amusing things said by parents to their children":

A pitman was exceedingly proud of the "wonderful scholarship" of his son. One day he put the lad through an examination as follows: "Billy what gender am I?" "Mask eline." "Right. Now what gender is yer mother?" "Feminine." Right again. "An' what gender is this teapot?" (Takes up Britannia metal teapot.) "Newton." "Wrong, Billy; an' that's the first mistake I ever know'd to mek. Still, it ain't a very big blunder—yer only said 'newton' instead of pewter."

Nothing Unusual.

Two neighbors were confiding their troubles to each other over the back yard fence that separated their premises.

"You know," said Mrs. Higgins, "that my husband is a carpenter?"

"Yes."

"Well, I give you my word that all the upstairs rooms are unfurnished, and the roof leaks whenever it rains, and I can't get Henry to do a thing to 'em!"

"You are not worse off than I am," said Mrs. Clingman. "You know my husband used to be a fireman on a locomotive?"

"Yes."

"Well, just as true as I stand here, I always have to get up in the morning and make the fire."—Youth's Companion.

WILD CARS

KNOCK OUT SECTION OF I. C. PLANNING MILL.

Coupling Breaks and String Dashes Into Building Sending Bricks Flying.

A section of the local Illinois Central planing mill was torn away Saturday afternoon at 5:20 o'clock by a string of box cars which had gotten away from a switch engine. No one was in the mill at the time.

The cars were being switched by engine No. 1562, Engineer Tom Curley and Foreman Snyder, when a coupling broke. The cars continued and struck the west end of the mill building just where the pattern department is located. The entire brick work was knocked out and brick and debris were scattered all over that end of the shop.

This morning temporary repairs were made and little inconvenience will be occasioned by the accident.

This is the first accident of its kind since last winter when a section of the mill on the same side was knocked out the same way.

A thoughtful hostess gave a children's party and decided it would be healthier to serve only mineral waters. One little girl tasted of her carbonic and laid the glass down.

"What's the matter, dear? Don't you like charged water?"

"No, ma'am please, may I have some water that you've paid for?"—Life.

LEAVES CITY

FANNIE WILSON WILL TROUBLE POLICE NO MORE.

Woman Has Changed Residence Twice and Gets Off With $25 On Her Promise.

Fannie Wilson was this morning fined $25 and costs and will leave the city because of the latest escapade in which she centered.

The woman came here from Cairo about five years ago. She figured in a grand larceny case but finally was acquitted after a term of waiting in jail. She went into a house on Kentucky avenue and later became matron of one of the places. Several fights and breach of the peace were committed in her house and the police closed the place up several times.

Recently a disgraceful scene was presented to the public from her front porch and the police closed the house for good, as long as she was connected with it. The woman then went to the O'Bryan addition in the rear of the Illinois Central depot and was residing in a small frame house, last week two well known young men accompanied the woman home from Wallace park and a cutting and shooting affray followed. This was the last straw, and the woman agreed to leave the city. In recognition of this agreement the judge assessed the fine of only $25 and costs for running a disorderly house.

Fear and fret make life's friction.

WILLOW FLIES

SWARM INTO PADUCAH FROM ILLINOIS BOTTOMS.

Millions Found Dead Under Electric Lights and Are Swept Out of the Postoffice.

A visitation of swarms of willow flies occurred last night, literally millions coming over from the Illinois bottoms opposite the city. They were noticed all over the business section of the city and as far out as Twelfth street. In the postoffice the lights attracted so many that they had to be swept out with a broom and under all the street lights thousands could be seen dead. The rain last night washed most of them off the streets. It is said these flies live only twenty-four hours, and a wind blowing toward the city probably brought them here.

Dr. Mary K. Benedict, of the department of pedagogy at the Missouri state normal school at Warrensburg, has accepted the presidency of a new woman's college at Amherst, Va. The institution was established by a Virginia woman, Miss Benedict, its first president, will be paid $3,000 a year.
